[^] Excerpts from the discussion :

Klaus: PHENIX is inspecting the coolant leaking from 2:00PM, the coolant is leaking at a rate of 1 gallon/day, cost of coolant is one thing, the detector may get damage from too low coolant, a later request for access will be presented later.

Bill: Access should be scheduled. At 9:00 o'clock meeting, the leaking problem of PHENIX doesn't sound like an emergency.

Christoph: Klaus called me on the coolant leaking and it sounds like emergency, so a 1 hour access was arranged without informing everyone involved. No other activities are scheduled in parallel.
